CluckPro 100

Vegetable protein based feed for laying hens

CluckPro 100 is specifically formulated to provide dietary protein and minerals to the laying hen to ensure continued egg production, and also improved egg size and shell quality. CluckPro 100 is made using quality vegetable protein meals, grains and contains no animal protein meals.

CluckPro 100 contains all the essential elements such as Calcium and Phosphorus with several necessary amino acids, such as Methionine and Lysine, for the laying hen to aid her metabolism throughout her egg laying life. This product can be fed as the sole feed source for laying hens at 100 – 200g per hen per day depending on layer size. Ensure good quality cool clean water is available at all times to avoid mortality especially in hot weather.
